2026-2027 Paul N. and Elinor T. Lazarus Screenwriting Scholarship

Overview:

The Paul N. and Elinor T. Lazarus Scholarship was established to recognize and develop film and television writing potential among our UCSB Film and Media Studies majors. Each year all submissions are reviewed by a set of internal judges to select four finalists. These finalists are then asked to submit a longer writing sample and are invited to interview with the scholarship review panel. Past panel members have included faculty, industry professionals, and a representative of the Lazarus family.

Guidelines:

- A. CAREFULLY review ALL materials for spelling and grammatical errors before submission.
- B. Scripts must be submitted in correct screenplay format.
- C. Application materials will not be returned.

Creative Resume:

Provide a brief overview of creative projects you have been involved in. This should include the titles and short synopsis of writing projects, and can also list internships, theater or film/video work, and student clubs.

Writing Sample:

A 20-page sample of a current project. (Excerpt or complete)

Statement of Purpose:

(750 words or less) A short introduction to yourself, your interests, hobbies and creative projects. Tell us about any current writing projects you are working on.
